

First Abilene Federal Credit Union
Online Banking and Electronic Services (E-Services) Disclosure

LIABILITY DISCLOSURE: By applying for online banking, you agree to accept responsibility for protecting the integrity of your Password, Security Question and Answer, Challenge Question and Answers, and Image selection as applicable. In order to help prevent unauthorized transactions and/or account access, you also agree to ensure the security of the computer you own and/or use to access online banking. By securing the computer you own and/or use, we specifically mean installing anti-virus software, a firewall and spy ware detection software on your computer and keeping this security software current; or verifying that the above security software has been installed and is current. You also agree that First Abilene FCU may revoke online banking if unauthorized account access and/or transactions occur as a result of your negligence in safeguarding the Password, Security Question and Answer, Challenge Questions and Answers, and Image selection and for ensuring the security of the computer you own and/or use to access the First Abilene FCU online banking, as described above.

DISCLOSURES and AGREEMENT: This Agreement governs online banking & E-Statements and related E-Services, provided by First Abilene FCU. Please read it carefully. In this agreement, the words, “you,” “your,” and “yours” means each and every person who utilizes the services. The words “we,” “our,” and “Credit Union” mean First Abilene FCU. The primary owner of this account agrees to share any and all disclosures regarding the use of this service with any and all authorized signors who utilize it. The words “The Service” refer only to those electronic and related services listed as follows:

- Online Banking
- E-Statements
- Cleared Check Images

See separate disclosures for: Mobile Banking and Remote Deposit

Account Access: Upon acceptance and approval of your application by the Credit Union for The Service, you may access your account at any time, seven days a week, twenty-four hours a day via the Internet whenever the system is not off-line for routine scheduled maintenance or other issues. Using standard PC telecommunications software of other Internet access, and your own personal identification information, you may obtain account balance and history information, transfer funds to and from any of the sub-accounts existing under your primary account number, and view check images.

Joint Accounts: Once your account is activated, we may act on the verbal, written or electronic instructions of any authorized signor on that account including but not limited to password resets, access record requests, and security question resets.

Transfer TO and FROM other accounts: You may make transfers TO any member of the credit union. You may only transfer FROM accounts where you are authorized to transact.

Check Withdrawal Requests: You may request a check withdrawal from the following sub-accounts: Savings, Checking, and Money-Market. We issue checks payable to the member-owner and we mail check withdrawals to the address listed on our computer system during the next business day after the request.

Access Limitations: The Credit Union reserves the right to limit the amount of online access time per month or per session.

Fees and Service Charges: Currently there are no service charges to use the online banking service. Please refer to the Rate & Fee Schedule for more information. All standard fees (i.e. overdraft, etc.) set forth in your Membership Account agreement applies. We reserve the right to institute charges for First Abilene FCU account access or transactions in the future, but only after written notification to you at least 30 days in advance.

Your Right to Receive Documentation: All of your Online Banking account activity will appear on your regular account statement as an Online Banking item. The Credit Union will not provide separate documentation of this activity. You may print the confirmation of each transaction from your computer screen or record the transaction confirmation number for your records.

E-STATEMENTS and ELECTRONIC NOTICES

First Abilene FCU will deliver our communications electronically. This disclosure describes the terms and conditions of the E-Services program for electronic communications. It also describes your rights in the event you wish to Opt Out of receiving electronic disclosures and notices. This service will allow you to view, save to your computer, and/or print the communications at your convenience. Electronic communications are a free service offered to all account holders.

First Abilene FCU E-Services Program Guidelines

1. You must be enrolled in our online banking service to view your Periodic Statement.
 - a) You will log in to online banking with your appropriate passwords and security information to retrieve your statement.
 - b) Previous periodic statements will also be accessible for a limited period of time (currently 12 months.) It is your responsibility to print and retain your statements for your records. You may request a paper copy of a past statement and you may be charged a fee as stated in our Fee Schedule.
 - c) We attempt to have our E-statement service available 24 x7 (except for maintenance periods), though we accept no liability if the service is not available at any particular time.
2. Monthly, we will send a notification to your email address telling you that your Statement is available for viewing and it will include a direct link to the FAFCU website online banking page.
3. In the event we are unable to deliver a monthly notification email due to an invalid email address, we will attempt to contact you for an information update and attempt to re-send your E-statement notification. If the second attempt is unsuccessful, a paper Statement will be mailed to your physical address of record. You will be required to provide a corrected email address to stop paper Statements and you may be assessed a Paper Statement fee for each month send a paper copy. See current fee schedule.
